

Your celebration map

Keep only the events you actually want. A smaller celebration is a complete celebration.

Possible family events include Gol Dhana, Pithi, Mehndi, Mandvo or Grah Shanti, Garba or Sanji, the wedding and a reception. Terms and combinations vary.

Ask whether Mameru or Mosalu is part of your family practice, who wants to participate and what is comfortable. Never turn a custom into a compulsory gift list.

Count attendance separately for each event; the wedding total is not the catering count for every gathering.

| Event                                     | Date & venue | Guests | Owner |
|-------------------------------------------|--------------|--------|-------|
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
| Event / date / location / expected guests |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
| Host / decision owner / budget cap        |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
| What is confirmed / what is optional      |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |
|                                           |              |        |       |